► McAfee & Taft gift benefits students' academic lives

Oklahoma-based McAfee & Taft donated $200,000 to the University of Oklahoma College of Law. The donation makes possible a new café on the first floor of OU Law that will serve as a central meeting point for law students, faculty and staff. Plans are currently being developed for this renovation to the law school, with construction scheduled to begin this summer. In honor of the McAfee & Taft gift, funds will also be used to establish an endowment that will provide $10,000 in underwriting funds each year for the Oklahoma Law Review annual symposium, making McAfee & Taft the lead sponsor.

Held every spring semester, the symposium brings together students, faculty and experts from the legal and business communities to discuss timely topics of significant local and national interest. The 2012 symposium focused on Oklahoma's water challenges and featured notable guest speakers from OU Law, the legal community and the public and private sectors.

"This generous donation enhances the academic experience and student life at the OU College of Law in numerous ways," said OU Law Dean Joe Harroz. "Thank you to McAfee & Taft for this meaningful gift."

Oklahoma Law Review student editors take part in the announcement of the McAfee & Taft gift, which will support the publication's annual symposium. Pictured are Lauren Hammonds, Allison Osborn, Scott Delaney, Dean Joe Harroz, Michael Joseph ('76) with McAfee & Taft, Andrew Morris, Jared Ford, Alexandria Polk and Tiffanie Choate.

Holding plans for the new café made possible by the gift are Dean Joe Harroz, McAfee & Taft attorney Michael Joseph and Professor Joyce Palomar.

► OU Law Society

An organization of alumni and friends

The new OU Law Society is off to a great start. With close to 100 members, we have already hosted several successful networking events. The Class of 2011 has earned its rank as one of the most generous classes in the history of OU Law. Through the OU Law Society, 18 percent of the Class of 2011 has given back to OU Law. We thank them for their generosity and invite you to join us, too!

The OU Law Society keeps alumni connected to both the university and each other. In addition to supporting OU Law financially and academically, the society hosts happy hours, networking events and luncheons featuring speakers from within the community. Members will also be invited to special College of Law alumni events.

► Gift establishes Aubrey M. Kerr, Sr. Endowed Scholarship

The Aubrey K. McClendon and Aubrey M. Kerr, Jr. ('65) families gave a $500,000 gift to the University of Oklahoma College of Law to honor the late lawyer, businessman and politician Aubrey M. Kerr, Sr. ('28). Beginning with the 2012-13 academic year, the Aubrey M. Kerr, Sr. Endowed Scholarship will award $25,000 annually to students with a demonstrated interest in energy and natural resources law.

The McClendon and Kerr families' gift was announced April 20 in the Bell Courtroom prior to Awards Day. Pictured at the event are Dean Joe Harroz, Joe C. McClendon, Carole McClendon, N. Martin Stringer ('64), Nancy Kerr and Aubrey M. Kerr, Jr. ('65).

"We thank the McClendon and Kerr families for such a meaningful gift honoring Aubrey M. Kerr, Sr.," said OU Law Dean Joe Harroz. "His impact is interwoven into the history of the OU College of Law and the state of Oklahoma, and this gift ensures that his legacy will benefit future generations of OU Law students."

OU Law is an international leader in energy and natural resources law, preparing students to be leaders in law and policy in the field, Harroz noted.

The scholarships will be awarded to incoming and current students in the juris doctor program and John B. Turner LL.M. program, which specializes in energy, natural resources and indigenous peoples law. OU's LL.M. program is the first of its kind in the country.

Kerr was born in a log cabin on August 3, 1900, in Ada, Indian Territory. After graduating from East Central State College, he attended the OU College of Law, where he graduated in 1928. He was a member and captain of one of OU's first Ruf/Nek squads and president of the Student Council and Independents Association.

Following graduation, he was a founding member of the Ada law firm of Kerr, Lamberts, Conn, and Roberts of Ada and Oklahoma City. He served in the House of Representatives of the state of Oklahoma from 1932 to 1938. He was the campaign coordinator for Robert S. Kerr in his successful races for governor and U.S. Senate representing the state of Oklahoma. He was a 32nd degree Mason and president of the Royal Order of the Elks.

His children were Margaret Kerr Boylan, late of Washington, D.C., Carole Kerr McClendon of Oklahoma City and mother to Aubrey K. McClendon, Ann Kerr of Chicago and Aubrey M. Kerr, Jr. of Oklahoma City. Kerr passed away on May 2, 1975.

Giving back

As state funding decreases, OU Law must rely even more on outside support to maintain our standard of excellence while minimizing tuition increases. The society assists the law school with the support necessary for day-to-day operations and student aid.

Campus involvement

Members of the OU Law Society have an active presence on campus, allowing students the opportunity to connect with alumni and demonstrating to students the importance of staying involved. In addition, the society provides encouragement to students during finals and graduating third-year students in their transition from students to alumni.

Join OU Law Society

Annual membership fees for recent graduates (three years or less) is $50 and $150 for all other alumni. For more information and to join the OU Law Society, you may contact us by calling (405) 325-8861 or emailing alumni@law.ou.edu.
