I. Introduction

This article provides an update concerning notable oil and gas law developments in the state of Nevada from August 1, 2021, through July 31, 2022, and focuses on major legislative and regulatory enactments and relevant developments in Nevada common law.

* Kevin Hivick is an associate in the Charleston, West Virginia office at Steptoe & Johnson PLLC where he focuses his practice in the areas of transactional and regulatory law with an emphasis on energy and natural resources. This Survey was prepared with the help of Summer Associate Evan Stire.

II. Legislative and Regulatory Developments

The Nevada Legislature's regular session adjourned, without a resumption date, on June 1, 2021, and is scheduled to resume on February 6, 2023. During the examination period of this article, the Nevada Legislature did not enact any legislation which significantly impacts the oil and gas industry.

Also, no Nevada state agencies enacted regulations affecting the oil and gas industry. Because the Nevada legislature did not hold a session August 1, 2021, through July 31, 2022, there was no opportunity for legislative developments.

III. Judicial Developments

No significant judicial developments affecting oil and gas law occurred in Nevada state or federal courts during the period covered by this article.
