DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
February 13, 1857.

SIR: In reply to the resolution of the Senate of the 26th ultimo, requesting to be informed "how much of the money appropriated for the Indian tribes in the last fiscal year has been expended upon them, (specifying the sum paid to each;) also, as to the amounts withheld from each of the tribes, and whether these amounts are in the hands of the disbursing agents, or still undrawn from the Treasury of the United States"—I have the honor to transmit, herewith, a communication from the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, under date of the 12th instant, furnishing the desired information, as far as it is in the power of the department to do so.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

R. MCCLELLAND,
Secretary.

Hon. J. M. MASON,
President pro tempore United States Senate.

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
Office Indian Affairs, February 12, 1857.

SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the reference, on the 27th ultimo, of the resolution of the Senate, passed on the 26th, in the following words:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Interior be directed to inform the Senate how much of the money appropriated for the Indian tribes in the last fiscal year has been expended upon them, (specifying the sum paid to each;) also, as to the amounts withheld from each of the tribes, and whether these amounts are in the hands of the disbursing agents, or still undrawn from the treasury of the United States.

I enclose herewith the tabular statements which, it is hoped, will furnish the information desired.

No. 1 is a statement of the amounts appropriated for the year ending June 30, 1857; also exhibiting the amounts drawn during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1856, on account of former appropriations for the same objects.

No. 2 is a statement of amounts drawn during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1856, from sundry appropriations not enumerated in statement No. 1.

No. 3 is a statement exhibiting the amounts drawn from appropriations for the Indian service since the 30th June, 1856, the balances, under the same appropriations, undrawn on the 27th January, 1857, and the amounts reported as remaining in the hands of disbursing officers at the latest dates for that information.

There were other balances, numerous in description, but considerable in amount, remaining in the treasury on the 30th June, 1856, and the 27th January, 1857, from which nothing has been drawn in the intermediate time.

It will be perceived that it is not practicable, if it is indeed possible, to reply to the resolution with perfect exactitude.

The tables submitted show the several amounts appropriated for a fiscal year, viz: the year ending June 30, 1857; also the amounts drawn during a fiscal year, viz: the year ending June 30, 1856, with the respective aggregates.

They also show the amounts drawn since the commencement of the current fiscal year, and the amounts remaining in the treasury on the day of the passage of the resolution; and also all information now in this office, showing, in a general manner, at the latest dates of information, the amounts in the hands of superintendents, that had not been disbursed.

The policy of the department has been to remit money to disbursing agents when about to be needed for actual disbursement, and only then; but owing to the great distance from Washington City, at which many important disbursements are made, to the economy of purchasing goods in the eastern cities, allowing time to transport and deliver them to the Indians; and because it is so often the case that appropriations for a fiscal year are not made by Congress until some time after the commencement of such fiscal year, it is necessary that the appropriations should always be considerably in advance of the actual disbursement of the money. Hence the balances held over from one fiscal year to another under many heads of account, and which appear large to the casual observer, but which, for the efficiency of the service, have to be held ready for expenditure. So long as the balances are confined in the treasury, the public funds are exposed to no danger of loss or misapplication.

The several amounts drawn from the treasury during a fiscal year on account of each of the several tribes may be assumed as the amounts expended on each tribe during a fiscal year; but the amount drawn on account of each of the several tribes since the 30th June, 1856, (on account of appropriations for 1856-'7,) embraces the fall annuity payments, and consequently embodies a large proportion of the expenditures of the entire year.

The balances remaining in the treasury are mostly not yet due; and if there be any due, it has been adjudged best for the Indians to hold them for disbursement in the spring, or at some other time.

The aggregate amount in the hands of disbursing agents at any one period, it is supposed, would not essentially vary, in the course of two years past, at the expiration of any one quarter; but owing to the irregularity of communications, the remote positions of some of the agents, and the tardiness of others in rendering their accounts, it is not practicable to show the exact amount drawn from the treasury since the 30th June last remaining in the hands of officers on the 31st December.

Very respectfully, your obedient servant,

GEO. W. MANYPENNY,
Commissioner.

Hon. R. McCLELLAND,
Secretary of the Interior.
