GOVERNOR BLOUNT'S CLAIM.

APRIL 14, 1830.

Mr. JOHNSON, of Tennessee, from the select committee to which was referred the case of Willie Blount, made the following

REPORT:

The select committee to which was referred the memorial of Willie Blount, late Governor of the State of Tennessee, praying for compensation to be allowed for services rendered by him to the United States, in obtaining funds for the use of the armies of the United States during the late war, and disbursing them under the directions of the War Department, and for liabilities incurred in the performance of these services, have had the same, and the accompanying documents, under consideration, and respectfully report:

|--|-------------|
| That the memorialist claims the following sums of money: | |
| Two per cent. commission on the amount of bills drawn by him on the War Department, and otherwise raising money for the use of the army, and paying the same over, amounting in all to the sum of $372,320 71 | $7,446 41½ |
| Two per cent. commission on the same sum for liability incurred in raising said money without the direction of the War Department, except $10,000 | 7,446 41½ |
| One and one half per cent. commission for his trouble in endorsing the amount of Treasury notes forwarded to him from the War Department, for his receiving and safe keeping the same, for his being held responsible for one portion thereof, and for disbursing the same, being the sum of $250,000 | 3,773 13 |
| | $18,665 95 |

From the best examination the committee have been enabled to give the documents submitted to their consideration, it appears that the accompanying document (marked A) exhibits a true account of moneys which were raised and disbursed by the memorialist for the use of the United States, and with which he stands charged by the United States, amounting in all to the sum of $509,707 14; and, also, a statement of the credits to which he is entitled, amounting to the sum of $504,630 36, leaving a balance due the United States of $2,675 78. Soon after the commencement of the late war with Great Britain, the attention of the Government was directed to the defence of the lower country, Louisiana and West Florida, and that a requisition was made of the memorialist, as Governor of the State of Tennessee, by the Secretary of War, for fifteen hundred of the militia of Tennessee, by letter, bearing date the 21st of October, 1812, by which he was requested "to call out, organize, and equip," that number of men for that purpose; and, "for the necessary expenditures," he was authorized "to draw bills on this [the War] Department;" and, on the 31st of October, 1812, a blank commission for Assistant Deputy Quartermaster General was forwarded to Governor Blount, with a request for him to fill it with the name of some person properly qualified to discharge the duties of that appointment, and he was authorized to draw on the War Department for the sum of ten thousand dollars for the use of the Assistant Deputy Quartermaster's Department, it being "impracticable" to transmit funds to the State of Tennessee. For the fulfilment of this requisition a call was made by Governor Blount for volunteers from the militia of Tennessee; and, at the time and place designated for rendezvous, about two thousand volunteers appeared, and were received by Governor Blount into the service of the United States, and the War Department immediately notified of the excess. The conduct of the Governor was entirely approved of by the War Department in receiving that number of men, and the whole of them recognized as troops of the United States, and afterwards paid as such; and, in addition to the above duties requested of Governor Blount, to wit: that of calling out, arming, and equipping the troops, and raising funds for that purpose, as well as supplying them, the Secretary of War, in his letter of October 21, 1812, says to him: "In consequence of the very great and extensive calls for tents and other camp equipage, and the time required for transportation, the Government rely on the exertions of your Excellency, and the patriotism of the citizens of the State of Tennessee, for a great part of these supplies. One thousand stand of arms will be ordered from Harper's Ferry, and down the Ohio, with ammunition and such other stores as can be seasonably procured, which, together with a thousand stand of arms ordered to be delivered to your Excellency from the stores at Newport, in May last, will, it is presumed, enable you to arm and equip the detachment for immediate service. Should volunteers offer under the acts of February 6th and July 6th, 1812, your Excellency is authorized to organize and equip for the whole or such part of the service as you may deem expedient. Seventy blank commissions are transmitted, to be filled up by your Excellency as the officers are selected."

In the succeeding year, the Government had other difficulties to encounter with the Creek Indians; and the Secretary of War, by letter, bearing date the 13th of July, 1813, made a second requisition on the memorialist, as the Governor of the State of Tennessee, for fifteen hundred of the militia of Tennessee, to act in concert with the militia of Georgia, against the Creek Indians, without any means being placed in his hands for their supply and equipment, by the Government of the United States. The Legislature of the State of Tennessee, apprehending that the number of men under the requisition of the General Government, was not sufficient to ensure the safety of the settlers in Northern Alabama, and the citizens on the Southern border of Tennessee, by an act bearing date the 14th of September, 1813, directed an equipment of three thousand five hundred men, in addition to the fifteen hundred before ordered by the General Government; and authorized the memorialist to supply said troops with provision, "at the expense of the State, until the General Government makes provision for said troops;" and also undertook the payment of the troops, "in the event the General Government refuse to pay;" and also authorized the memorialist to borrow three hundred thousand dollars, and to pledge the State of Tennessee for the payment thereof, upon the condition specified in said act. Orders were immediately issued by the memorialist, for the equipment of five thousand men, and notice given to the War Department of the proceedings of the Legislature of Tennessee, which were sanctioned by the War Department, and the whole number of men received into the service of the United States, on the — day of October, 1813, and before the actual organization and march of the troops, under the orders of the Governor of Tennessee. For the supply of these two expeditions, the memorialist raised the sum of $357,306 14, without any other authority, it is believed, than the letter of the Secretary of War, in October, 1812. It appears from the certificate of W. G. Blount, the Secretary of the State of Tennessee, that none of this sum was raised by virtue of the aforesaid act of the State of Tennessee, which accompanies this report, marked B. The committee have no means of ascertaining the precise sum that was raised by the memorialist, for either of the expeditions disconnected with the other.

The aforesaid sum of $357,306 14, was raised by the memorialist drawing bills on the War Department, and disposing of them to the best advantage, and in some instances, executing his notes, payable in the banks of Tennessee, and procuring responsible endorsers on both drafts and notes; and it is believed that in every instance, they were disposed of by him at par; and though the Committee are satisfied that the purchasers of the bills and notes received them, relying more upon the prospect of the General Government paying them, than upon the ability of Governor Blount or his endorsers to pay them, they still think that the memorialist and his endorsers run great risk in procuring funds to such an amount, upon no other authority, than abovementioned; and still greater hazard, in the proper application of the money to the uses of the General Government; and that the memorialist had much trouble and difficulty in procuring funds to that amount, as well as the procurement of responsible endorsers. The committee refer the House to the accompanying statement of W. G. Blount, the Secretary of State at that time, in Tennessee; and also, of Major W. B. Lewis, the Assistant Deputy Quartermaster General at Nashville.

In the discharge of these varied duties, at the request of the Secretary of War, and which were not a part of the duties of his official station as the Governor of the State of Tennessee, the committee are of opinion that the memorialist had much difficulty and labor to encounter, as well as responsibility and hazard; and that a liberal compensation should be made to him for the application of so much of his time and talents, and attention to the affairs of the General Government, and which contributed so eminently to the common cause in that section of the country. The committee are therefore of opinion that the memorialist be allowed two and one half per centum on the aforesaid sum of money.

On the 29th of September, 1814, $100,000, in Treasury notes, were remitted by the Secretary of War to Gov. Blount, for defraying the expenses of the army then organizing for the campaign in the State of Louisiana. By a letter from Gov. Blount to the Secretary of War, bearing date the 18th of October following, he declined receiving them, and to be accountable for them, probably in consequence of the difficulties he had encountered in consequence of the delay of payment of some of the bills drawn by him, and the actual protest of others, and he deposited the sum in Bank at Nashville. They were then ordered to be delivered over to the Assistant Deputy Quartermaster General at Nashville, and having been made payable to Gov. Blount, they were endorsed by him and delivered over according to the order. Notwithstanding the refusal of Gov. Blount to be further concerned in the financial operations of the War Department, on the 30th of January, 1815, another remittance, in Treasury notes, was made to him for $150,000, and the same charged to him on the books of the Department, and which were likewise endorsed by him, and paid over to Gen. Jackson, according to the directions of the War Department; and for these services Gov. Blount charges one and one-half per cent.; and the committee are of opinion that, in addition to the above allowance, one-half per cent. on the said sum of $250,000, will be a reasonable compensation.

The committee beg leave to remark, that it is abundantly proven by the documents before them, that the conduct of Gov. Blount throughout the difficult and embarrassing period of our history, was marked with an ardent zeal for the public welfare, regardless of personal responsibility, and with a promptitude, energy, and unwearied industry and punctuality, that secured to him the approbation of the President of the United States, and the commanding General, and for which he is entitled to the gratitude of the country. With this view of the case, the committee beg leave to annex hereto a statement of the account of the memorialist, and to report a bill for his relief. All of which is respectfully submitted.

Statement of W. G. Blount.

I certify, that, during the late war, I was Secretary of State for the State of Tennessee, and that I knew the manner in which funds for the Quartermaster's Department here were raised, to promote and carry on the service, and how the service was otherwise promoted, through the great exertions and responsibilities of the then Governor, Willie Blount, to wit: by bills drawn by him, without authority from the General Government, (excepting the sum of ten thousand dollars, for which sum he was authorized to draw,) but upon his own and that of his endorsers' personal responsibility, and by his notes, discounted at banks, to raise money for those objects; the amount of which bills and notes were invariably paid, either to the Assistant Deputy Quartermaster of the United States' service, in Nashville, or to the contractor for supplying the United States' troops in service, from Tennessee; and I have every reason to believe, that in that way the service was carried on in this quarter during the war; and in that way only was the public service promoted, to the amount of between three and four hundred thousand dollars; and that, in every case of a bill so drawn and paid by the War Department, that amount was received by the holders of the bills, and not in any instance by Governor Blount. I further certify, that Governor Blount invariably gave endorsers on his notes discounted by the banks, and was frequently compelled to give endorsers on bills drawn by him on the War Department, in order to enable him to raise money wherewith to promote the good of the service; and that great difficulties and constant prospects of great pecuniary embarrassment were experienced by Governor Blount, throughout the war; his bills being at times protested, to large amounts, and his notes in bank, for very considerable sums, being, also, at times, in danger of being protested. I further certify, that, by Governor Blount's arrangements with the Bank of the State of Tennessee, the Treasury notes remitted to him by order of the Secretary of War, for the use of General Jackson's army, near the conclusion of the war, the credit of those Treasury notes was much aided, their circulation thereby caused to be made at par, and that a profitable interest, exceeding fifteen hundred dollars, accrued to the Government, and was paid over for the benefit of the Government. I further certify, that the act of the General Assembly of the State of Tennessee, passed in the year 1813, authorizing the Governor to borrow money, on the credit of the State, for the equipment and supply of three thousand five hundred troops, to act against the hostile Creeks, &c. was wholly unavailing as to funds, as neither the banks nor individuals were found willing to lend money on the terms prescribed by said act; and, consequently, the Governor could not, nor did not, raise a dollar, under the authority of that act; but that he raised the necessary funds, not only to supply and equip those three thousand five hundred men, but also raised funds to large amounts on his own responsibility, by bills and otherwise, both before and after the passage and expiration of said act, without his having received a dollar from the Government for such or any other public service, as I believe, excepting the sum of ten thousand dollars, for which he was authorized by the Government to draw, about the time the Tennessee troops were first ordered into the service of the United States, after the declaration of war, and marched, under the command of General Jackson, to Natchez, for the defence of the lower country: thus, from time to time, during the continuance of the war, the Governor raised funds and equipped for service, under great difficulties, the troops called from this State, and afforded supplies, to large amounts, upon his own responsibility and that of his endorsers, to the regular troops under the command of General Jackson, greatly to the benefit of the public service.

Statement of W. B. Lewis.

I certify, that, during the late war between the United States and Great Britain, and between the former and the Creek Indians, I acted as Assistant Deputy Quartermaster in the service of the United States, at Nashville; and that, during those periods, I was furnished with funds for the use of the Quartermaster's Department, through Governor Blount, from the sale of bills drawn by him on the Secretary of War, which he drew, as he informed me, without any authority so to do, except for the limited sum of ten thousand dollars. I further certify, that, with these funds, thus raised, and other moneys in Treasury notes paid over to me by Governor Blount, I was enabled to procure and furnish the army, under the command of General Jackson, with such articles, in my department, as were indispensable to its operations, and without which the service must have been greatly injured, if not entirely ruined, in this quarter. The sum raised by the sale of Governor Blount's bills was, as well as my recollection serves me, some where between three and four hundred thousand dollars; for all, or the greater part of which, I have reason to believe he was held responsible, in case the Government had refused to pay his bills, or had not been able to do so; which, at that time, in this section of country, was thought by very many to be doubtful: and I am confirmed in this opinion, from the fact that some of his bills were actually protested, and he formally notified thereof; and from the circumstance, also, of a number of individuals, as well as the banks of this place, to whom I sold those bills, having required my own individual endorsement on them, as additional security, to the amount of about one hundred thousand dollars, as will appear by reference to the bills themselves.

W. B. LEWIS.
