ELIZABETH S. ROBERTS.

JUNE 29, 1897.—Ordered to be printed.

Mr. MITCHELL, from the Committee on Pensions, submitted the following REPORT.

[To accompany S. 1087.]

The Committee on Pensions, to whom was referred the bill (S. 1087) to increase the pension of Elizabeth S. Roberts, have examined the same, and report:

A similar bill was introduced in the Senate during the Fifty-fourth Congress, passed the Senate, and was reported favorably by the House. The Senate report was as follows, which your committee adopt, and recommend the passage of the bill:

Mrs. Roberts is now in her eighty-second year, and has been confined to her room by paralysis for over four years, and requires the constant service of a nurse. She has no means beyond her pension of $30 a month, her entire fortune not exceeding $500. Mrs. Roberts is the widow of Gen. Benjamin S. Roberts, United States Army, who served through the Mexican war, coming out with the rank of brevet lieutenant-colonel, having been brevetted for gallantry and bravery in the action with the enemy at Matamoras. He also served during the late civil war, at the close of which he was brevetted major-general, United States Volunteers, for gallantry and meritorious conduct in the battle of Cedar Mountain, Virginia, and in the battle of Manassas, Va., August 29 and 30, 1862.

During the late war Mrs. Roberts was actively engaged in the work of the Sanitary Commission, being corresponding secretary of the Central Society in New Haven, Conn., of which there were eighty branches in different parts of the State. Previous to the war she spent nearly her entire married life on the frontier with her husband, having made marches with troops in wagon trains from Fort Leavenworth, Kans., to Fort Laramie, Wyo., and from Fort Ringgold, Tex., to Fort Leavenworth, Kans., besides other shorter marches. She was exposed to all the vicissitudes and hardships incident to the frontier life of that day, and the present condition of her health is in a large measure due to her hard work and exposure at that time.

The military record of General Roberts is appended, together with a certificate of Dr. J. Morris Brown, lieutenant-colonel and deputy surgeon-general, United States Army, showing Mrs. Roberts's present condition.

Military record of the late Gen. Benjamin S. Roberts, United States Army.
