Petitions of numbers of various tribes against a proposed territorial government over them.

MARCH 8, 1870.—Referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs and ordered to be printed.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 8, 1870.

SIR: Herewith we have the honor of presenting through you to the honorable the Congress of the United States, petitions signed by the qualified voters of Tahlequah, Cooieskooie, and Going Snake districts of our nation. Petitions from the other six districts of the Cherokees, we are advised, will be transmitted in a few days. These petitions have been circulated among the Cherokee people, and it will be seen that they are based upon the right of petition secured to the Cherokees by their treaty of 1846 with the United States, and set forth substantially the objections of the Cherokee people to any territorial form of government over them that Congress may devise, other than the international government provided by the treaty of 1866 between the United States and the Cherokees, Creeks, Seminoles, Chickasaws, and Choctaws, to consist of a general council, the genius and character of which are clearly defined in said treaties. In the name of the Cherokee people, we ask that these petitions receive respectful consideration, and we feel that it is our duty to add that the people of the Indian nations of the southwest are unanimous in their aversion to the proposed territorial government.

We have the honor to be, with great respect, your obedient, humble servants,

TAHLEQUAH, CHEROKEE NATION,

February 9, 1870.

GENTLEMEN: It has come to our knowledge that it is seriously proposed to introduce in the Congress of the United States, measures having for their object the placing the various Indian tribes and nations of the southwest under a territorial government other than the general council provided for by the treaties of 1866.

We need not remind you that the establishment of such a government over us would work our certain and speedy extinction by subjecting us to the absolute rule of a people foreign to us in blood, language, customs, traditions, and interests, who would speedily possess themselves of our homes, degrade us in our own estimation, and leave us a prey to the politicians and land speculators, thus destroying the unity of our race and producing national disintegration.

We have received the above information with apprehension and serious alarm, regarding, as we do, the above policy, if adopted by Congress, as the prelude to our funeral march to the grave, and we enter our solemn, deliberate, unanimous protest against the consummation of so unjust, oppressive, and cruel a measure, calling on all the various Indian tribes and nations of the southwest to cooperate with us in resisting such measures by all lawful, peaceful, and honorable means at their command.

We do not believe, however, that a majority of the Congress of the United States would be found to sanction a scheme calculated to prove so destructive to us as a people, so subversive of the policy of the United States government from its earliest dealings with the Indians, and the inevitable tendency of which would be to blot us out of existence, both as a people and as individuals.

We hereby proclaim ourselves the friends of the United States government; that we are ready to defend it with our lives, if necessary; that all we ask is that its legislative body will not forget that we hold our lands in fee simple, by letters patent from the President of the United States; that those lands were bought and paid for in cash and in exchange for lands deemed more desirable by the United States; and that our national character is recognized and confirmed again and again by the highest laws known to political societies, namely, treaties, which guarantee that the jurisdiction of no State or Territory of the Un is States shall ever be placed over us without our consent. All we ask that good faith and justice be shown to us, and that a policy may not be adopted toward us which would be productive only of evil, and which could never be practically enforced without our utter destruction.

We know that we are but few in numbers and weak, while the people of the United States are many and strong, and we appeal to their greatness and magnanimity to spare us from a forced extinction. We had been "moving on" for generations, and hoped when we settled here that we had at length found a place of rest, and that our council fires would burn as brightly west of the Father of Waters as they had done centuries ago on the shores of the Atlantic Ocean. Like the people of the United States, we are men created by the same God, and accountable to Him for our acts, and we beseech our white brethren not to stir up strife which would result in depriving us of every remaining right and guarantee now enjoyed by us. The doctrine that irresistible destiny requires our national extinction, and with it our annihilation as individuals, is abhorrent to the feelings of a common humanity, and we implore the people and government of the United States not to precipitate our fate by doing violence, not only to solemn treaty stipulations, but to the laws of nature and of nature's God!

Finally, in the exercise of the right of petition "for the redress of grievances and the discussion of rights," guaranteed to us by article second, treaty of 1846, we hereby request you, as our chief and as our national delegates at the city of Washington, to place this our respectful remonstrance against the policy foreshadowed by the information which has reached us, before the President of the United States and heads of the executive departments, and before the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled.

With great respect and confidence in your fidelity and patriotism, we are, gentlemen, very sincerely yours, &c.,

TAHLEQUAH, CHEROKEE NATION,
February 5, 1870.

GENTLEMEN: It has come to our knowledge that it is seriously proposed to introduce in the Congress of the United States, measures having for their object the placing the various Indian tribes and nations of the southwest under a territorial government, other than the general council provided for by the treaties of 1866.

We need not remind you that the establishment of such a government over us would work our certain and speedy extinction by subjecting us to the absolute rule of a people foreign to us in blood, language, customs, traditions, and interest, who would speedily possess themselves of our homes, degrade us in our own estimation, and leave us a prey to the politician and land speculator, thus destroying the unity of our race, and producing national disintegration.

We have received the above information with apprehension and serious alarm, regarding, as we do, the above policy, if adopted by Congress, as the prelude to our funeral march to the grave, and we enter our solemn, deliberate, and unanimous protest against the consummation of so unjust, oppressive, and cruel a measure, calling on all the various Indian tribes and nations of the southwest to co-operate with us in resisting such measures by all lawful, peaceful, and honorable means at their command.

We do not believe, however, that a majority of the Congress of the United States would be found to sanction a scheme calculated to prove so destructive to us as a people, so subversive of the policy of the United States government from its earliest dealings with the Indians, and the inevitable tendency of which would be to blot us out of existence, both as a people and as individuals.

We hereby proclaim ourselves the friends of the United States government; that we are ready to defend it with our lives, if necessary; that all we ask is that its legislative body will not forget that we hold our lands in fee simple, by letters patent from the President of the United States; that those lands were bought and paid for in cash, and in exchange for lands deemed more desirable by the United States; and that our national character is recognized and confirmed again and again by the highest laws known to political societies, namely, treaties; which guarantee that the jurisdiction of no State or Territory of the United States shall ever be placed over us without our consent. All we ask is that good faith and justice be shown to us, and that a policy may not be adopted toward us which would be productive only of evil, and which could never be practically enforced without our utter destruction.

We know that we are but few in numbers and weak, while the people of the United States are many and strong, and we appeal to their greatness and magnanimity to spare us from a forced extinction. We had been "moving on" for generations, and hoped when we had settled here that we had at length found a place of rest, and that our council fires would burn as brightly west of the Father of Waters as they had done centuries ago on the shores of the Atlantic Ocean. Like the people of the United States, we are men created by the same God, and accountable to Him for our acts, and we beseech our white brethren not to stir up strife which would result in depriving us of every remaining right and guarantee now enjoyed by us. The doctrine that irresistible destiny requires our national extinction, and with it our annihilation as individuals, is abhorrent to the feelings of a common humanity, and we implore the people and government of the United States not to precipitate our fate by doing violence not only to solemn treaty stipulations, but to the laws of nature and of nature's God.

Finally, in the exercise of the right of petition "for the redress of grievances, and the discussion of rights," guaranteed to us by article second, treaty of 1846, we hereby request you, as our chief and our national delegates at the city of Washington, to place this our respectful remonstrance against the policy foreshadowed by the information which has reached us, before the President of the United States and heads of the executive departments, and before the presiding officers of the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States in Congress assembled.

With great respect and confidence in your fidelity and patriotism, we are, gentlemen, very sincerely, yours, &c.
